Four Lane Highways Reduce Head-on Collisions

Gordon E. Taylor, Minister of Highways, reported today that a study has been carried out on the accident picture on the four-lane highways where the speed limit has been raised to 65 miles per hour by day and 55 miles per hour by night commencing July 1st. The following points have been observed during the first two months, namely, July and August:

(1) The over-all accident rate on all of the four-lane sections where the increased speed limits were in effect shows a decrease from 2.15 to 1.21 per 1,000,000 vehicle miles over the same two months in 1958. The injury rates decreased during the same period from 1.63 to 1.17.

(a) On the divided four-lane stretch between south of Bowden and Crossfield the accident rate decreased from 14 accidents per 1,000,000 vehicle miles in 1958 to 1.1 in 1959. There were 14 accidents in 1958 as compared with 11 in 1959.

(b) On the divided four-lane stretch from Airdrie north to Okotoks the accident rate decreased from 33 to 6 per 1,000,000 vehicle miles. There were actually 10 accidents a year ago during the two months while this year there were six as compared with 11 in 1959.

(c) On the undivided highway between Airdrie and Calgary the accident rate increased this year during the two months from .14 to .17 per 1,000,000 vehicle miles. There were 10 accidents a year ago and 12 this year.

(d) On the four-lane undivided highway between Dewinton and Aldersyde the accident rate decreased this year from 3.3 in 1958 to 1.1 in 1959. The number of accidents in 1958 were six with only two in 1959.

(e) On the undivided stretch between Edmonton and Nisku the accident rate decreased from 3.3 per million vehicle miles to .64.

(f) On the undivided stretch between north of Red Deer and the Sylvan Lake road the accident rate dropped from 2.8 in 1958 to 0 in 1959.

(g) On the undivided stretch immediately south of Red Deer the accident rate increased from 3.3 in 1958 to 6.4 in 1959 with one fatality.

"I am very pleased indeed that the combined accident rate has decreased where the increased speeds were in effect. This is encouraging. Care must be taken, however, to not make decisions or draw conclusions on the statistics for the two months. We plan to continue this study each month in order to determine and be aware of the actual trend," Mr. Taylor said.

"The divided four-lane highways do greatly reduce the chances for head-on collisions. Head-on collisions have been completely eliminated to date on the divided four-lane highways. There is evidence of what might have been head-ons in the centre ditch where a number of cars have swerved and gone out of control — without the median separation every such incident would be a potential killer of people," the minister observed.

Recreation Leadership Courses

Three recreation leadership courses will be conducted November 6 and 7 at Peace River, Lethbridge and Red Deer by the Cultural Activities branch (Recreation Bureau) of the Department of the Provincial Secretary.

The quick crafts program is designed to provide recreation leaders with numerous ideas for projects using easily obtained materials.

Sections are included for home, school, club and camp.

Instruction techniques and cautionary practices are featured in the ladies' keep fit class. Leaders will be taught a series of fundamental exercises for better health and posture.

Registration fee for the Peace River and Lethbridge clinics is $1 with candidates responsible for their own meals and accommodation. A $3 registration fee for the Red Deer short course covers meals and accommodation.

Application deadline is October 23rd. Further information is available on writing: Cultural Activities Branch (Recreation Bureau) Department of the Provincial Secretary, Legislative Buildings, Edmonton, Alberta.

Mr. Hunter also announced the appointment to the board of directors of Dr. P. P. Kaye of Two Hills and Clayton J. Reeves of Lloydminster. Dr. Kaye will represent the Fort Saskatchewan - Vegreville - Two Hills zone, Clayton J. Dept. of Highways Ready For Roads This Winter

Gordon E. Taylor, Minister of Highways, announced today that some 800 tons of salt have already been ordered by his department.

During the winter of 1958-59 more than 2,000 tons of salt were used on our highways. This salt is supplied from Lethbridge and is an Alberta product.

The minister advised that the salt is used for the control of icing conditions on the highways. A sand-salt combination is applied to the roads. The salt assists in bedding the sand in the ice and it also cuts the sand in the ice and retards the freezing of rain on the surface of the road.

Salt is not effective in below zero temperatures nor on glare ice at extreme temperatures.

Every effort is made in the use of salt to reduce the chance for corrosion. Salt will eat right through a fender or other exposed metal parts of a vehicle. The manufacturers have undercoated the vehicles in an effort to control this factor. Salt is not used on concrete surfaced highways as such could be most destructive to the concrete as the salt in conjunction with water sets up a chemical reaction; neither is the salt allowed to come in contact with the structural steel of bridges.

The department is gearing itself to handle snow and icy highways in order to keep traffic moving on time in a safe manner and the following snow equipment is ready for use:

51 motor graders with attached plows V-plows and one-way plows;

53 standard trucks with attached plows V-plows and one-way plows;

32 four-wheel drive trucks with V-plows and large rotary plows;

41 motor graders without plows will be used for blading snow and ice.

7 small rotary plows mounted on farm type tractors;

66 trucks with sand spreading equipment;

29 trucks will be used for hand-sanding where required;

59 loaders mounted on small tractors for loading sand into the trucks.
